Amateur Hanging.

Going up on the Adams Express, the other night, was a little play which was coming to the people of the city and the country. A couple of young men had been playing an amateur hanging, and the audience should call upon a hanging in the next stopping place. At the train near Traversburg, the second was detached at the end of the car, preparatory to separating the train. The end of the rope hung beside the seat, whence the young man glowered upon the traveling world. Partly for his own sake, and partly to frighten his companions, he jumped up, and throwing his cord about his neck, pretended to hang himself. Just as the train entered the broken track at the end of the car, he seized the rope and gave it a tremendous jerk to draw it out. The twitch upon the cord almost lifted the young man from his seat, and made him see stars that were not down in the books. The young lady jumped up with a feminine shriek, and caught the end of her lover to keep him from being drawn headlong through the cord loops. As he settled back into his seat it is hard to tell which had the whitest face, even when they came in close contact, a minute after in a palpitating moment of peace. We think the minister in the next town got a few that day.

THE STANDARD OF JUDGMENT.—Judge a man by his actions; a poet by his verse; a lawyer by his law; a player by his strut; an Indian by his avenger; an Englishman by his good nature; a Scotchman by his shyness; a justice by his frown; a great man by his modesty; a tailor by his agility; and a woman by her neatness.

If a lady yawns five times in succession, young man, you may git your last.

Local and Miscellaneous.

JOHN LAMBERT, an ex-convict, was arrested by the police at the residence of his mother, Mrs. J. Lambert, at Astoria, Oregon, on the charge of having stolen $20,000 from the Adams United States Collector at Astoria, Oregon.

Two kinds of "Dunkers" have been "plain and peaceable" drunkards, and "jolly" drunkards. The former are the "Dunkers" who are "jolly" and "peaceable" and the latter are the "Dunkers" who are "plain" and "peaceable".

A dispatch from Salt Lake City announces the assassination of another resident of Utah by Brigham's men. He was shot in the back by an assassin, who followed him as he walked to his home, and was instantly killed. The Mormon journalists and leaders sustain the assassination, and dare the "Gentiles" to publish their names in the reward offered. —Journalist Journal.

The many friends of Colonel Robert Pollock will learn with profound regret that he was in command of Fort Goodwin, Arizona, at the date of the reported massacre of that garrison by the Apaches. We await with painful solicitude complete and reliable news upon this matter. And we devoutly pray that the reported massacre may prove false, for a braver soldier never wore the uniform than Robert Pollock, formerly Colonel of the 3d California Infantry, and for a long time commanding Camp Douglas, in this Territory.

OFF FOR THE STATER.—Dr. A. K. Smith, late Surgeon of the 1st Michigan Cavalry, started for the States yesterday, going via San Francisco. He will be absent from this city, which he proposes to make his home, about three months. We wish him a pleasant journey and abundant success in his business operations.

D. J. Goff, the well known cigar dealer, left for the same stage, for Nebraska City. He has sold his store in this city, but his numerous friends are anxious that he should return before long, in some other branch of business.

ASSAY.—The following assays of Stockton were made, yesterday, from rock taken from fifteen to fifty feet below the surface, and which contained about thirty per cent. of lead: ASSAY OFFICE OF BOHM & MOLITOR, Great Salt Lake City, May 21st, 1886.

Mr. J. W. Gibson.—SILVER.—Your samples of ore, subject to careful assay, contain, No. 2, Hard Times, Gold, oz. 0.55, value $12.56; silver, value $105.24; total value $117.80. No. 3, Great Central, silver, oz. 279.45; value $861.50.

CITY CHURCH continues to labor under a state of intense excitement. Approprate a portion of the surplus funds in the City Treasury to making a permanent channel for this unruly stream.

IT is rumored that the Government will send commissioners here to locate grounds for public buildings. This course being rendered imperative, because government officials experience so much difficulty in procuring suitable rooms for offices and residences.

THE Church historian narrated last Sabbath in the Tabernacle. He abruptly closed his narrative by leaving the last Mormon in Missouri in jail, refusing his liberty when offered to him. We await with painful solicitude next Sabbath's narrative, so that we may learn what became of that individual.

BORN.—Among other things said in the Tabernacle last Sabbath was something after the following style, by the Tribune in Texas: "Any government of the earth attempting to lay hands upon the priesthood will sink into Hell. Joseph Smith holds the keys of heaven and no man or woman can enter there in without his permission." So it appears that Smith has usurped Peter's place.

FROM OREGON.—W. A. McPherson and J. O'Meara, Esq. are accompanying the gubernatorial candidates in the canvass. The O. S. N. Company are giving their railroad from the Dallas to Colton a thorough overhauling. Colonel Hawkins is stopping the State for the Union ticket. Peter Gately and Michael McGee were recently imprisoned in the Idaho jail, near Boston, for a felonious assault on a German woman. The other day the woman went to the jail in company with Gately's counsel, but was refused admission to the cell, and sat in the rotunda, seventy feet from it. The counsel, however, entered the cell, and it is stated that the prisoner, for upon a bench, so that he could see the woman at a distance. The counsel, who is a Justice of the Peace, subsequently issued a certificate of marriage to the couple, claiming that he united them according to law, no set form of marriage being required by statute. If the marriage is held to be valid, the woman of course becomes incompetent to testify against her husband.

Seven million gallons of water were required to quench the flames of the recent conflagration at Cincinnati.
